

Credit Seminars

Looking for a keynote speaker for your credit seminar? A small business consultant? In-house training? Solomon Algazi is the credit education expert to call. He travels nationwide to deliver his credit training seminars and instruct professionals and individuals on the vast and ever-important details of credit education. His unique experience in the consumer credit industry and unmatched energetic style and presentation skills have made him a highly sought after speaker. View a brief clip of Solomon in action.

World-Class Credit Instruction

It doesn't matter if you need solid credit information delivered to two people or 2,000 people – there is no company too large or small for this kind of valuable education. Whether you're looking to educate employees, students, customers, prospects, or members, no one should be without this kind of in-depth credit knowledge. Solomon even trains loan officers, real estate lenders, entrepreneurs, and business owners on a regular basis through his small business consulting.

Countless organizations have invited Solomon Algazi to deliver credit presentations, including Bank of America, Countrywide Home Loans, JP Morgan Chase Bank, Wells Fargo Home Mortgage, Century 21 Realtors, Remax Realtors, Exit Realty, the NYPD Sergeants Benevolent Association, and The Corcoran Group Realty.

Complete Credit Education Delivery

Your credit education program of choice can be managed with as much or as little tailoring as you like. Our dedicated seminar logistics manager will be your guide from your first call to our office to the day your seminar is delivered. All the details will be taken care of for you, from securing the seminar space to creating the course content and materials.

Our most popular seminar topics include:

- Managing your credit to earn and maintain excellent credit scores
- Surviving identity theft
- Credit reporting, both basic and advanced
- Credit scoring, both basic and advanced

One-on-One Credit Education

Once seminar attendees hear Solomon's presentation on the five credit score components, they quickly realize how little they really know about maintaining healthy credit.

Private consultations with Solomon outside of the event are available and encouraged. No one should have to try and sift through a complicated credit report solo and everyone should know how the credit scoring system works. Solomon and his team of credit experts will go account by account, teaching every client how to read and understand their credit report, identify mistakes, and create a plan for every account in their file.

To get more information about bringing Solomon Algazi and his credit education seminar to your location of choice, contact us today.